

Colorado Career Conversations Training Project

Increase the impact of your career advisement with anyone who is navigating career decisions

As an initiative of the Education Leadership Council and on behalf of the Colorado Department of Education, the Colorado Education Initiative is offering Colorado Career Conversation training. The training and framework were also built in partnership with the Colorado Workforce Development Council, Colorado Department of Higher Education, and Colorado Department of Labor and Employment.

This free professional development experience is intended for anyone who might have a career conversation. The goal of the project is to train 5,000 individuals by June 2020, expanding the number of skilled advisors able to deliver a consistent career advising experience.

Choose from these training formats:

- ✓ Ideal for anyone!
- ✓ Walk away with an introduction to the Career Conversation Framework and resources to dig into topics further

- ✓ Designed for individuals who might have a Career Conversation and for groups with different levels of experience
- ✓ Dig into the Career Conversation Framework with time for practice and learning from your peers

- ✓ Most appropriate for individuals who regularly coach or advise others as a refresher on current resources and best practices for career conversations
- ✓ Dive deep into of each part of the Career Conversation Framework with lots of time for practice and practical application along with networking and sharing your own best practices and resources

CDE will offer reimbursement for sub coverage (for training hours only) at $20 per hour. This sub coverage is for instructional individuals in any setting, including P-12 teachers, adult education instructors, college professors, etc. Additionally, travel reimbursements are also available including: parking (if applicable), mileage, and hotel if overnight is necessary. Once you register for a training, you will receive an email with the required forms and instructions. For more information about travel reimbursement, please contact Michelle Crawford at crawford_m@cde.state.co.us.
